SUMMER SCHOOL

We find ourselves at the end of another school year. I look around this class and I see students who have matured into talented and passionate young adults...

And some who haven't.

Aw c'mon, dude.

Also remember the importance of maintaining strict study routines over summer so you'll be ready to work hard when you return. These are the best years of your lives after all.

Now there are ten minutes left until the end of class and I suppose I could let you start your summer break a bit early...but I won't! Now sit in silence and reflect on your shortcomings.

Aw c'mon, Teach!
