

"We were all loaded into this little moving van and told that we had to empty the keg inside it before we could come out. This was our big test before we could join the fraternity."

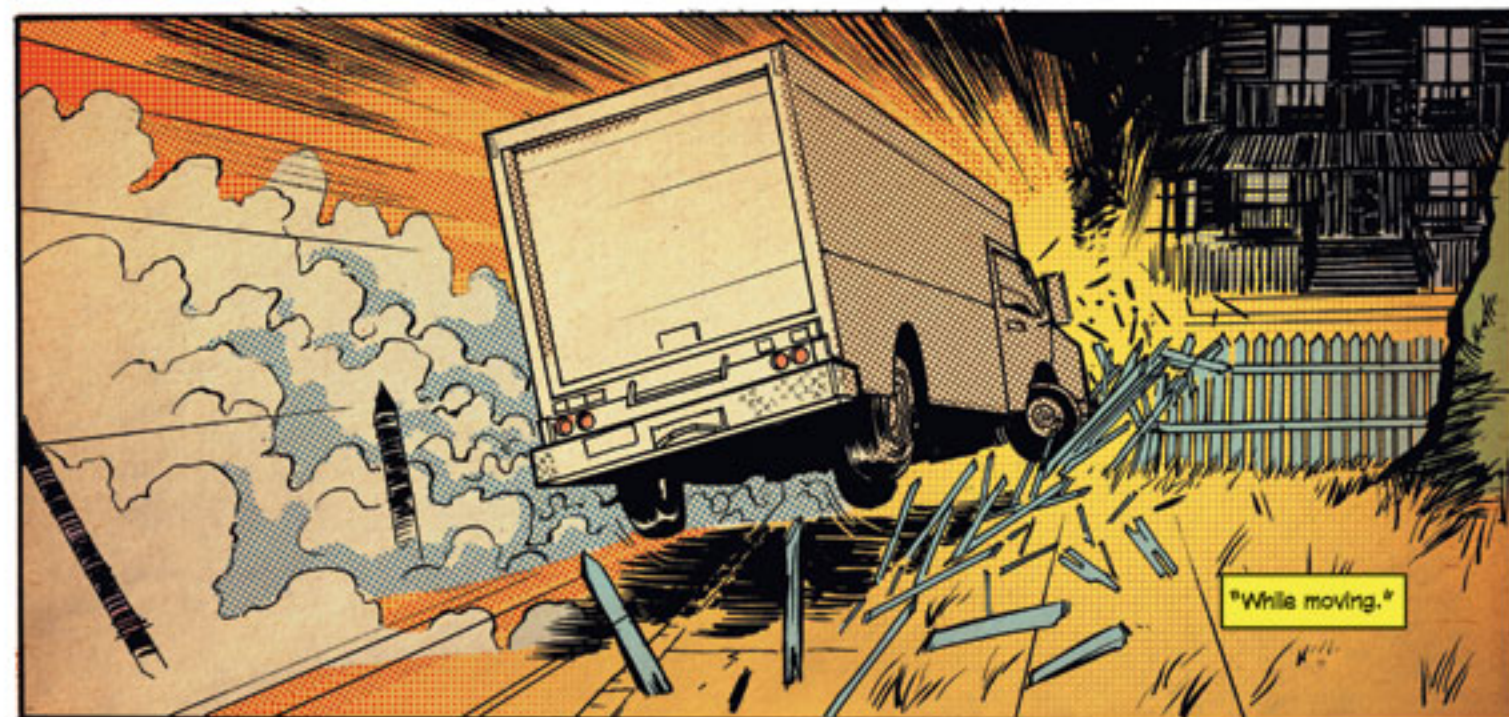

Drink up, ladies!!

"I forgot to mention that the keg wasn't secured at all."

"And that we'd be doing it in the dark."

"While moving."

GODDAMMIT!!
I CAN'T SEE ANYTHING!

"For whatever stupid reason,
I had to do it. I just kept going and going. Something had changed in me."

"Something just... clicked on."

"By the time the van
finally came to a stop I couldn't even hear the
other pledges around me
screaming anymore."

"Only a dull roar in my head, my heart pounding
out of my chest."

Rise
and shine,
ladies!

Don't feel bad if you couldn't do it, boys. Truth is, no one has ever actually finished it.

"I was different..."

"Nothing."

"I can't remember
a thing."

