

NATO HQ BRUSSELS

FIVE-EYES has been the very backbone of Anglophone intelligence-sharing for DECADES.

By threatening to withdraw, you're threatening the stability of NATO itself--

NATO's a RELIC, M. It had its day.

GENERAL JAMES GARRETT
U.S. DIRECTOR OF NATIONAL INTELLIGENCE

DISENGAGEMENT is now the policy of this administration. And yours too...

Unless you Brits are begging to get back into Europe? Maybe I missed a briefing.

Insularity may play well with the base, but you know as well as I do that populist politicians have little grasp of the true threats we face.

You wanna talk THREATS? How about our man in Rotterdam, gunned down by one of your own!

That's pure disinformation. We have NEVER acted against CIA.

And let me warn you, if it led to retaliation against our undercover asset in Munich--

Let's just cut the crap, M.

We both know Aaron was targeted by OO-Section because he was after intel that YOU, personally, didn't WANT to share.

Well, tough shit. 'Cause we got it anyway.

...Explain.

Never acted against CIA, huh? The LIK were running covert ops in Argentina, while we were supporting the junta against Communist aggression.

Men died, M. Men under my command.

You're in Brussels too? M's here meeting with General Garrett...

I doubt that's a coincidence, Tanner.

These tit-for-tat killings are laying the groundwork for an operation called HOODED FALCON...

...and M may just be the next target on the kill chain.

If you're aware of an active threat--

I'm looking at one right now.

Rika Van De Havik.

She's alive. And she's HERE.

Shit and hellfire. They must have switched bodies in Rotterdam...

Take her alive if you can, 007.

No promises.
