It is 3014 AD. The civilizations of the galaxy are being decimated by the Brotherhood of the Badoon, a reptilian species hungry for power and control. Opposing the Brotherhood is a valiant resistance movement led by the Guardians of the Galaxy.

But something is wrong with time itself. The timestream is collapsing, forcing them to fight the same war again and again.

The Guardians' newest recruit is Geena Drake, a young Earth girl whom they rescued from a Badoon labor camp. For reasons no one can explain, Geena has a natural sensitivity to the disruption of time.

The Guardians are battling to resolve the temporal decay, but this has brought them into conflict with a mechanoid race known as the Stark. Geena, Charlie and Yondu have been rescued by the mysterious Star-Lord, but Vance, Martinex and Starhawk have taken the fight aboard the Stark coreship. As they attempt to understand exactly who the Stark are, they're interrupted by an unexpected 'savior'... named Nikki Gold...
