

This was the prison where the Eraser, Julianne Verre, was held.

But that was a lie. She'd been planted here.

These walls were just another field for recruiting. Now abandoned, still useful in recruitment drives.

Was the Eraser toying with me the entire time?

Meru sends a letter to the contact she shares with Duncan and Perrier.

To let him know she is okay.

CAN YOU READ THIS? READ THIS

Everywhere else she posts encrypted messages that only her allies can read.

Giving them dates and times for a rendezvous.

Instructions for a final assault.

She's alive. She needs us, Duncan.

...on the Eraser. YOU CAN READ THIS

Plans to meet at the prison—or in three weeks, in Guangzhou.

CAN YOU READ THIS IF YOU CAN MEET AT GUANGZHOU IN THREE WEEKS FROM NOW ... FOR 112379

In the meantime, Meru uses Jarlin to create battle-ready art.

And Dusty's army waits in the wings, ready to fight.

Impossible to know.

Meru heads to the prison one last time...

...to see if her files have snagged any last recruits.

Or was I just hoping for...

Not sure what I was hoping for. A new army of recruits ready and waiting for me? Eager to fight...

