

"It's just not good enough."

You're talking about sheer and utter fantasy.

Or, I suppose, science fiction.

We played along, we went to the place you told us about, we went inside the Bunker.

And do you know what we found?

~~BUNKER~~

NATASHA

PRISON

ASPIRE

GRADY SENATOR

?

That's the thing.

We went back in time—

Poor choice of words.

We tracked backwards through satellite photography the past few days. And, sure enough—

And we found the guy.

Any ideas who he might be?

It's just a blurry little dot.

Yeah, well, that blurry little dot was thumbing around your alibi.

That's the car he came in?

Not a car. A truck. A red pickup.

Daniel Adamson.

"That's his truck!"

You doing okay?

Yeah. Sure.

You need to relax. I mean, you've got TWO OF us helping.

Yes. My ex and her time-displaced future self who is my current, working together. Delightful.

Which is why I choose to drink. Want some?

Little early, isn't it?

It's REALLY NOT.

