BOMBING AT PANGOLIN

Russian Spy killed in own terrorist plot against Conservative party leader

At 8 am this morning, foreign operative, Sergei Yulynov set off a bomb at The Commons building in London. Yulynov, 2 years working with the Russian secret service as a covert spy, was killed shortly after being discovered in the cellar of the Commons, dressed in an electrical specialist's uniform, his hand ready to set off a massive time bomb. WE'RE GOING TO SEE MORE AND MORE OF THIS SORT OF THING—with how badly our country treats its lower class ...

MMH, I SUPPOSE SO, BUT THIS EXTREME, MILITARY-STYLE TACTIC SEEMS MORE LIKE ONE WORLD POWER FLEXING ITS MUSCLES AT ANOTHER WORLD POWER ... DON'T KNOW WHAT THIS HAS TO DO WITH THE STRUGGLES OF THE WORKING CLASS.

PERHAPS—it could just be governments fighting for power, but it could also be an act of aggression against our capitalist regime ... and how we oppress and hold dominion over, not only our own people, but those from other nations across the globe, to keep in step with our American cousins ...

HARD TO SAY, BUT YOU KNOW MORE THAN I DO ABOUT POLITICS, SYLVIA.

PEEEF— I'M GETTING TIRED OF STRUGGLING WITH THIS PAINTING—LET'S GO OUT! THERE'S THIS GREAT ART SHOW GOING ON AT THE PHOENIX GALLERY... AND THERE'S AN AMAZING ARTIST SHOWING HIS LATEST WORKS THERE TONIGHT! COME WITH ME; IT'LL BE FUN AND HOPEFULLY INSPIRING!

EH, I DUNNO... I SHOULD BE OUT LOOKING FOR WORK.

SPEAKING OF THE OPPRESSED WORKING CLASS—I'M GONNA HAVE A ROUGH TIME PAYING MY RENT NEXT MONTH IF I DON'T FIND SOMETHING SOON ...

YOU DO KNOW THAT THEY'RE GONNA HAVE FREE FOOD THERE, RIGHT?
