

Radio announcers and television screens all over the city report: "SPIDER-MAN STRIKES AGAIN! STEALS MILLIONS IN DIAMONDS!" Peter Parker gets wind of this breaking news and fumes. "The smoke at the crime scene has got to be Mysterio's handiwork. He's trying to cover his tracks and make me look bad."

Just then, a police car radio squawks detailing a crime in progress, so Peter ducks into an alley to change into his suit and heads toward the financial district.

Spider-Man arrives at the bank and is about to web one of the robots when he is spotted by police.

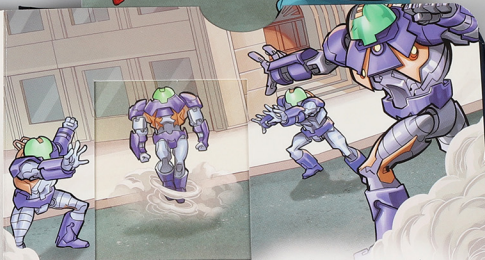

As the cops chase Spider-Man, an armored car peels away from the bank.

"Mysterio must be in there! I gotta reveal the real crook, and fast!" Spider-Man thinks, and he jumps on top of the car.

Radio announcers and television screens all over the city report: "SPIDER-MAN STRIKES AGAIN! STEALS MILLIONS IN DIAMONDS!" Peter Parker gets wind of this breaking news and fumes. "The smoke at the crime scene has got to be Mysterio's handiwork. He's trying to cover his tracks and make me look bad."

Just then, a police car radio squawks detailing a crime in progress, so Peter ducks into an alley to change into his suit and heads toward the financial district.

Spider-Man arrives at the bank and is about to web one of the robots when he is spotted by police.

As the cops chase Spider-Man, an armored car peels away from the bank.

"Mysterio must be in there! I gotta reveal the real crook, and fast!" Spider-Man thinks, and he jumps on top of the car.

