Some details remain the same. He is the last of his kind, a Time Lord, with knowledge of the universe like no other.

He is practically immortal, regenerating to a new, fresh body when death threatens.

He travels through time and space in the TARDIS, enabling him to be literally anywhere, anytime, without rhyme or reason.

Sometimes he is a soldier.

Sometimes he is a man.

Sometimes he is an educator.

Sometimes he is the oncoming storm.
HE IS ALL OF THESE THINGS.

BUT THERE IS SOMETHING ELSE...

HE IS NEVER ALONE.

HE draws them to him, these lost souls so willing to be led that they follow him into the void. He needs them.

THE DOCTOR IS NEVER ALONE.

I'M going to have to change that.
THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS, LONDON, ENGLAND, 1868.

WORP WORP WORP

OH, HO!
YES, THIS WILL DO QUITE WELL. EXCELLENT!

COME ON OUT, NOW!
ALL IS CLEAR.

HOW DO I LOOK?

AND YOU TWO LADIES LOOK QUITE LOVELY.

I CERTAINLY HOPE SO.

YES, YES, OF COURSE YOU DO. WE ALL NEED TO BLEND IN AS MUCH AS POSSIBLE.

I DON'T NEED TO REMIND YOU OF WHAT I ALWAYS SAY, THAT WE MUST AVOID CHANGING OR REWRITING THE PAST.

IT SEEMED TO TAKE A LOT OF TIME FOR US TO GET ALL DRESSED UP LIKE THIS.

DO I NEED TO WEAR THIS HAT? I FEEL RIDICULOUS.

YOU DO ALWAYS SAY THAT, BUT I AM STILL NOT COMPLETELY CONVINCED, AND IT SEEMS LIKE WE OFTEN END UP CHANGING THINGS ANYWAY...
That was fantastic. He's a brilliant speaker.

Yes, it was an honor to be here for his lecture.

Thank you, Doctor. I apologize for my earlier lack of enthusiasm about this visit.

Some of his ideas seem very dated and inaccurate to me.

Not everyone has your 25th-century education, Vicki.

Yes, sometimes I do seem to have problems with context.

You have to keep the context in mind. This is 1868.

My education was so much better and more comprehensive, though.

I have to say, this is a quite an unexpected pleasure.

You seldom take us anywhere we might actually want to go.

So what's next, Doctor?

I told Thomas that we would stop by and chat with him briefly in his office before we go.

By all means!
